

Pretzel, Pretzel

(Tim and Greg stand center stage, facing each other. Tim is eating a pretzel. Greg is not.)

GREG

Looks like you've got yourself a nice little snack.

TIM

Yes. I have a snack.

GREG

Nice.

TIM

Sure.

GREG

Salty. Crunchy. Tasty. Nice.

TIM

Maybe you should get yourself one. Maybe you should get yourself a pretzel. To eat.

GREG

I would like to have one. To eat. I feel...seeing you eat the pretzel...I feel...unoccupied. Inert. Like the pretzel itself. Not having a pretzel to eat I feel like I am a pretzel.

TIM

Yes. It's so good. The pretzel. So good to eat now.

GREG

Nice.

TIM

Sure.

(Pause)

GREG

Give that pretzel to me now. Give it to me to eat.

(Pause)

Kidding

TIM

You really had me going there for a moment.

GREG

Yes.

TIM

The way you had me going for a moment, that's your pretzel I think. When you get me going you're having a nice little snack.

(Pause)

GREG

Give that pretzel to me now. Give it to me to eat.

TIM

You really had me going there for a moment.

GREG

Yes.

TIM

Nice.

GREG

Sure.

CURTAIN